J. S. CRUBAUGH

J. S. Crubaugh

President Crubaugh was one of the first educators assembled at IJC by the late President Philip A. Sheffield. Mr. Crubaugh served as academic dean and through his direction to the scholastic efforts, Itawamba became the first junior college in Mississippi to become a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools upon its first application. Mr. Crubaugh became president upon the untimely death of President Sheffield in September, 1960.

James A. Thrash

For the past seven years James A. Thrash has been academic dean. He succeeded our president to the post when the college's president, Philip A. Sheffield died. Prior to being named dean Mr. Thrash was an industrial education instructor. He came to IJC from the Pontotoc schools. He is a native of Neshoba County.

Student activities are under the direction of Dean Cecil Abel who occupies this position for the first time this year. He is a former high school principal who came to IJC four years ago as a Business Education instructor. He was director of guidance prior to being named Dean of Students.

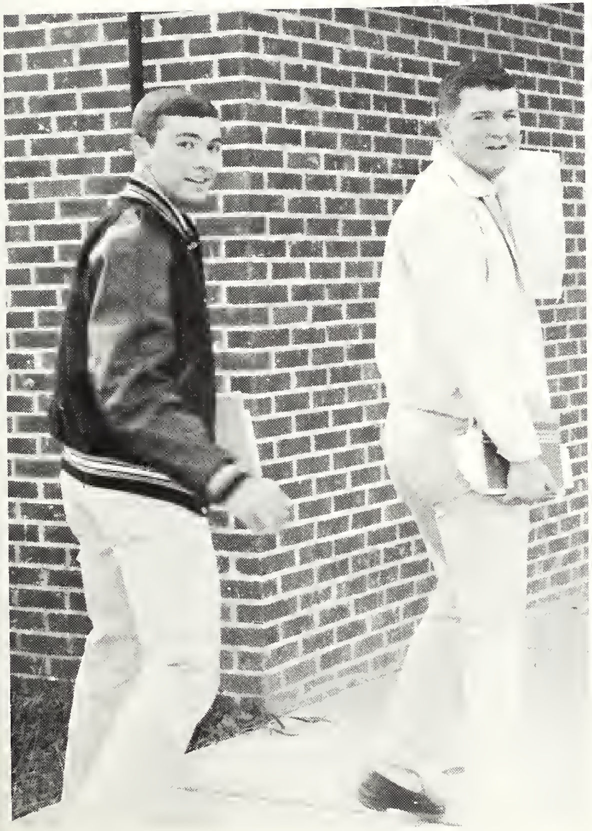
Pairs Make The Scene

Boy and girl pairs are often seen, as are this pair — Otis and Billie Jean.



"Hey, Sammy," whispers Larry, "do you see those girls?"

Head cheerleaders Linda and Billie Dee give a "Whoopee".

Hundreds of persons are finding new opportunities by upgrading their skills through courses taught at the Vocational and Technical Education Center.

New goals for achievement are possible to the students who successfully complete the program at this center. Not only are students trained in a skill which will offer ready employment, but for many the basic adult education program has raised the level of educational knowledge.

The beautiful new building which houses the vocational and technical education program is a tribute to the far-sightedness of community leaders in co-operation with education and industry.

Even though I counted the days until the end of the school year, I now wish I could turn back the clock to yesterday.

Shakespeare once said, "Oh, come back yesterday; bid time return." That is exactly how I feel now as I look back over this school year. I remember all the classes and exams and Student Center pranks and assemblies and lunch lines — I laugh at myself for having worried about school.

Somehow I seem to recall my parents telling me how I should enjoy school. At the time I thought they just didn't know how things were. There were moments when I thought I had reached the end of the way . . . but somehow with determination, the support of others, and the grace of God, I have completed another year.

And now as I look through this yearbook, I realize with fond remembrance that these were "the best years of my life."
